

REPORT $21,000 IN 2 PENSION FUNDS

Firemen's Fund Is More Than Twice Size of Police Resources.

Pension funds of the police and fire departments are growing steadily so that the police fund is now about $6,000 while the firemen's resources total close to $15,000. These facts were brought out during the annual meeting of the pension board this week. Each board asked Mayor T. J. Welch to invest part of its money in bonds from time to time. A considerable sum from each department is now invested in Liberty bonds.

There are three new members on the police pension board this year—Capt. Charles Dickinson, Sgt. Harvey Jones and Officer James Ward. The other four are: Chief Morrissey, Mayor Welch, City Clerk E. J. Sartell and City Treasurer W. J. Leinhardt. The fire board is made up of the last three officials and Chief Con. J. Murphy, Capt. A. L. Ryan, Capt. Frank Jungblut and Capt. John Quinn.

No policemen are drawing pensions although the fire board is paying pensions to two—$54.77 monthly to Henry C. Klein, ex-chief, and $20 to W. A. Seeger. Klein has not cashed any of his checks.

At the annual meeting, Chief Murphy recommended that the advice of the city attorney be obtained on how long un-cashed checks remain valid. The police pension fund was swelled by $1,200 during 1920, although no money was received from dog licenses as formerly. Here are the sources of income given in Mayor Welch's report: Recovering stolen car, $50; fees from county, $52.25; ambulance calls, $155; 1 per cent of each police man's salary, $181.67; miscellaneous licenses, $25.25; matured bonds and coupons, $83.95.

About $4,000 was added to the fire board fund in 1920, $2,420 of which came as state aid, and $1,515 from matured bonds. The firemen's pension fund paid in 1920 $208.69 as 1 per cent of their salaries, the report shows.

PUPILS OF LOCAL SCHOOLS PRESENT NOVEL EXHIBITION

Wednesday afternoon's program for the Wisconsin State Music Teachers' association convention here was divided into two parts. The first was a public school demonstration. The Walrus and the Carpenter, and the second a series of papers and discussions on the technical parts of music and other topics.

The first part was a series of songs, the music taken from "The Walrus and the Carpenter" in "Through the Looking Glass." Pupils of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, numbering 250, gave the cantata. The case with which they sang even the most difficult passages, and the manner in which they kept together and kept time, all reflect great credit to Miss Florence Snyder, supervisor of music, who had charge of the cantata and trained the children.

Repeat Program Thursday.

Citizens of this city should embrace the opportunity of hearing the cantata at the higher numbers offered again Thursday night at the Congregational church, as it is not only of interest because of the fact that the participants are Janesville school children but because it is a musical treat. Especially noticeable was the clearness with which each word was sung.

Interesting facts on the history of the music memory contest, one of which was held in this city last fall were given by Prof. P. W. Dykema, of the University of Wisconsin, results on all classes of people are so great, he said, that it promises to be one of the biggest steps toward making people appreciate the better class of music.

Prof. L. J. Stringer, of Milton college brought some peculiar cases before the members, cases which he has had and does not know what to do with. Teachers who have had many helpful suggestions to offer.

U. W. Man Reads Paper.

A paper explaining the difference between the virtuoso and the artist was read by Prof. Waldemar von Goltz of the University of Wisconsin. He said the artist is the one who really loves his music, studies hard to perfect it and one who is a master while the virtuoso is one who studies little and lets his genius bring him fame, soon becoming a slave instead of a master. Prof. von Goltz told about the practice that all famous violinists must do daily, stating that many of the greatest ones practice ten hours each day. He said that while a true artist must have a love for music born in him, great musicians are not born so. Their greatness came from good hard study and practice, combined with their love for their work. This paper also covered much interest and after a discussion, it was planned to reserve some time after each session for the 1922 conference for a discussion of the preceding papers.

Technical points and fundamentals in music were touched upon by Dr. Charles Mills, also of the University of Wisconsin, going deeper into the details concerning rhythm and meter. The questions asked after this talk showed the interest taken.

UNIVERSITY GIRL EATS 1,000 TACKS, BUTTONS AND PINS

Hardware merchants have found a new line of "spies" prospects.

Miss Ross Smith, Madison, employed at a Madison candy making plant, recently underwent an operation during which surgeons removed 1,040 small carnel tacks, 12 screws, 12 open safety pins and a number of buttons from the girl's stomach.

The Madison girl is declared to have had a habit for swallowing foreign substances. She became ill some weeks ago from her steady diet of tacks and visited the university clinic for treatment. An x-ray photograph showed the foreign substances in her stomach. She was taken to the hospital and operated upon.

The tacks were small in size, removed, it was found that foreign substances weighed a fraction more than a pound.

"May-be she wanted to be hard-bolted," remarked the operating surgeon.

RATES ON HAULING BUILDING MATERIAL IN STATE REDUCED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison—Reduced rates on sand, gravel and crushed stone hauled in Wisconsin, ranging from 2 to 38 cents per cubic yard, were established by the railroad commission Thursday morning, to take effect May 14.

This move on the part of the commission is made in order to give an impetus to construction in the state, which has been held up largely through prohibitive prices on aggregate materials. Road construction amounting to $200,000 is directly according to A. R. Hirst, chief engineer on the highway commission.

Present rates have resulted in curtailment of industrial and highway construction, the commission found. The decision restores the old system of making rates on sand, gravel and crushed stone on the basis of a distance tariff.

Reduction in charges for short hauls of from 10 to 20 miles are the largest, while less of a reduction is made on hauls up to 100 miles.

County Officers on Look-Out for Two Murderers

Rock county authorities are continuing the search for two negroes alleged to have been the slayers of Paul Modica, 12, in a brutal crime in Freepoint. The report. The Rockford authorities have scoured the district south of the state line detailing rifle squads for the search. The extensive searching by the rifle squads in and around Freepoint has caused the two negroes to attempt an escape in Wisconsin, the authorities believe.

The father, Sam Modica, and his small son were about to close the small grocery store, located near the railroad tracks in Freepoint. The two colored highwaymen entered the store and after drawing revolvers ordered the father and son to "hold up their hands." The father obeyed at once.

The son was too frightened to comprehend the danger. He hid behind the counter and shrieked from fright. One of the negroes leaned over the counter and yanked the boy out. The boy eluded the negro and ran toward the back door of the store. As the boy reached the door, the negro fired, killing him with a bullet through the abdomen.

You are paying for it (why not have it)

In what you pay the carpet-cleaners, in the wages you pay for house-cleaning, in the wear that your rugs suffer when not kept free of destructive embedded grit—even if you value your time and strength at nothing—you are paying for a Hoover.

The Hoover actually pays for itself in the years of additional wear that are given to the rugs it cleans. It beats out the nap-wearing, buried grit that only beating can evict. It straightens up the crushed nap that is worn away when left bent over.

Then there is the constant beauty of your rugs to consider. Surely it is worth a good deal to have them always bright in color and cleanly swept.

A pretty war romance, with Constance Talmadge playing the leading part, that of a frivolous girl always doing things which she shouldn't, which finally gets her into a tight place, was seen at the Apollo theater Wednesday evening, its little being "Dangerous Business." It will be repeated Thursday evening.

Always thinking she is in love, the heroine does several things which almost make her lose out when the "evil" man comes along. HARDING TO GUIDE U. S. IN TREATY

President Has Not Given up Hopes of Acting on Versailles Pact.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—President Harding looks somewhat enervated. The weight of responsibility rests heavily on him. No longer does he wear the senatorial manner, the serene ease and the calm of the capital clockwork; no looks and acts the part of a chief executive, whose time for smiles and banter are lost in the seriousness of a huge task.

The correspondents saw the president on Tuesday morning, just after cabinet meeting. Mr. Harding had a burdensome day. He started a movement to economy in the government departments—a pruning of all expenses. That's only a part of his job—the affirmative side. Not only that, but he has to deal with the negative side—preventing some of his former colleagues of the senate from harassing him.

Senate Cooperation.
The president has found it necessary to beg the senate to remember that the chief executive can't do effective work if the members of the legislative body insist on leading him into the handling of foreign policy, questions of disarmament, the recall of troops from the Rhine and kindred matters.

Mr. Harding isn't seeking a quarrel with the senate. He is doing everything in his power to avoid one. But all the senators are cooperating with him in a way that spells teamwork. Time was when members of congress would keep the White House informed if they intended to introduce bills or making speeches that touched on the sphere of the executive. As a consequence little evidences of a lack of teamwork are exaggerated into reports of friction.

The most important case in point has just been cleared up at the White House. And everybody who heard Senator Lodge make his speech advocating passage of the Knox resolution was surprised to hear him express the opinion that the Versailles treaty couldn't be modified by reservations in such a way as to make it satisfactory to the United States.

It was a surprise because Mr. Lodge himself has been the author of two sets of reservations but the impression obtained was that Senator Lodge after conference with the president and Secretary Hughes had come to the conclusion that the job of amending the treaty had been given up as hopeless by the Harding administration.

Not Hopeless Yet.
Inquiry was made to determine whether the president had arrived at such a conclusion. It will be recalled that in his message to congress, the president said it was wiser to accept the existing treaty with modifications "assuming, of course, that this can be satisfactorily accomplished by such explicit reservations and modifications as will secure our absolute freedom from indivisible commitments and safeguard all our essential interests."

From Senator Lodge's speech it was inferred that a conclusion had been reached and that a new treaty with Germany would have to be negotiated. But a direct answer to the inquiry brings officials from the Harding administration the response that it knows of no such conclusion. This means that Charles Evans Hughes, legal counsel, has not yet returned as hopeless the task of carving out of the body of the Versailles treaty such parts as are objectionable to the United States.

Speech Causes Flurry.
Quite a flurry was caused observing diplomats when the speech of Senator Lodge was read by them in the Congressional Record. They wondered if the Harding administration had reversed itself. Now it appears that Senator Lodge was merely expressing a personal opinion that the job of legal surgery couldn't be done. He said he tried it and that it required "amendments." Inasmuch as the treaty contains over four hundred sections, foreign governments, it is asserted here, would not consider 73 amendments out of proportion.

Knows Foreign Situation.
President Harding is just as anxious incidentally to make a move for disarmament as anybody in the senate. He is as eager to recall the troops from the Rhine as is the average American. He wants to see the reparations controversy settled and peace made with Germany. But the confusion of the United States purposely entrusted such questions to the executive because he is dealing every day with foreign governments and there is a time and occasion for these things which cannot be determined by any one of the 435 legislators who are not in close touch with happenings in official and unofficial channels. The chief executive has in effect petitioned congress to let him alone while he steers the ship of state through dangerous shoals. Members of congress are learning in their conferences at the White House that Mr. Harding meant what he said in his last message when he declared that "in correcting the failure of the executive, in negotiating the most important treaty in the history of the nation, to recognize the constitutional powers of the senate, we would go to the other extreme, equally objectionable to congress or the senate should assume the function of the executive."

Autoists Have Narrow Escape

The accident was due to a loose pin in the steering apparatus. The car turned turtle and was hurled into an embankment and the driver, who made people are convinced that it turned over three times before it landed bottom side up. Both the men were bruised but not seriously injured.

ALLIED ULTIMATUM SENT TO GERMANY

take all other military and naval measures."

The terms for Germany's payment of her debt to the allies are to be given her by the allied reparations commission by Friday.

Allies Prepare Troops.
Meanwhile the allies are to continue with all necessary preliminary measures for the occupation of the Ruhr.

The ultimatum was handed to Dr. Ganner, the German ambassador in London Thursday morning.

The text of the ultimatum reads as follows:

"The allied powers, taking note of the fact that despite the successive concessions made by the allies since the signature of the treaty of Versailles, and despite the warnings and sanctions agreed upon at Spa and Paris, as well as of the sanctions announced at London and since applied, the German government is still in default in fulfillment of the obligations incumbent upon it under the terms of the treaty of Versailles as regards:

First—Disarmament.
"Second—The payment due May 1, 1921, under article 235 of the treaty, which the German government has called upon it to make at this date:

"Third—The trial of war criminals, as further provided for by the allied notes of February 12, and May 7, 1921, and

"Fourth—Certain other important respects, notably those which arise under articles 244 to 257, 268, 274, 281, 282, and 287 of the treaty, decide:

To Proceed With Military.
"(A) To proceed from today with all necessary preliminary measures for the occupation of the Ruhr valley by allied troops on the Rhine, under the conditions laid down.

"(B) In accordance with article 235 of the Versailles treaty to invite the allied reparations commission to notify the German government without delay of the time and methods for the discharge by Germany of her debt, and to announce its decision on this point to the German government by May 6, at the latest.

Want Categorical Answer.
"(C) To summon the German government to declare categorically within six days after receiving the above decision its determination (1) to execute without reservation or condition its obligations as defined by the reparations commission; (2) to accept and realize without reservation or condition in regard to its obligations the guarantees prescribed by the reparations commission; (3) to execute without reservation or delay measures concerning military, naval and aerial disarmament which Germany was notified by the allied nations in their note of January 29; those measures in the execution of which they have so far failed to comply with are to be completed immediately, and the remainder on a date still to be fixed; (4) to proceed without reservation or delay to the trial of war criminals, and also with other parts of the Versailles treaty which have not as yet been fulfilled.

To Invade Ruhr.
"(D) To proceed on May 12 with the occupation of the Ruhr valley and to undertake all other military and naval measures, should the German government fail to comply with the foregoing conditions. This occupation will last as long as Germany fails to fulfill the above conditions."

The protocol then provides for the issue of bonds as his previous demand and which shall be secured on the whole assets of the German empire and the German states.

Berlin.—The cabinet of Chancellor Fehrenbach, which Wednesday night tendered its resignation to President Ebert, was continuing to function Thursday in compliance with the president's request that it remain in office until a new ministry was organized. Informal conferences were in progress among the coalition party leaders. Whether the present cabinet will be able to send another cabinet to the government's bench in the Reichstag is the subject of lively conjecture in parliamentary circles, as is the question whether such a government could count upon the "benevolent neutrality" of the majority socialist working majority.

The new cabinet, it is pointed out, will also be confronted with the task of being called upon to accept Germany's signature to the entente protocol on reparations.

The conditions laid down."

The protocol to be handed to the German war reparations commission in Paris Thursday night by the reparations commission says:

"Germany will perform in a manner laid down in this schedule, her obligations to pay the total fixed in articles 231, 232, and 233 of the treaty of Versailles, 135 billion gold marks, less (a) the amount already paid on account of reparations; (b) sums which may, from time to time, be credited to Germany in respect of state properties in ceded territory etc., (c) any sums received from other enemy or former enemy powers in respect to which the commission may decide credits should be given to Germany, plus the amount of the Belgian debt to the allies, the amounts of these reductions to be determined later by the commission."

The protocol then provides for the issue of bonds as his previous demand and which shall be secured on the whole assets of the German empire and the German states.

May Make Turtle Creek Dividing Line for Two Consolidated Schools

By having Turtle Creek as a dividing line it is expected that Avon and Clinton will have adequate consolidated schools to meet the full requirements of the school districts in Clinton, Turtle, Bradford and La Prairie townships.

Establishing of the dividing line will set boundary lines so that the school districts will not overlap. In Clinton village the being situation is the present building is so obsolete and crowded that consolidation by the state board of education is certain to be crowded classes have to be held in the village hall, entirely unsuited for educational purposes.

Dwight New School. Clinton people at a meeting during the recent meeting and in conversation, that a modern school is needed. The school draws from an extensive area, even from Walworth county. People in this district, through the school, are in favor of consolidation. Dick, state inspector, spoke for two hours, were all in favor of consolidated school—but not necessarily of a consolidated school in doubt. The village school board desires the near-by districts which send students to the Clinton school to cooperate and bear a proportionate share of the cost of a new building. Such an improvement is estimated, will cost around $100,000. Conditions in the present crowded school are deplorable. Standing in the hall-way of the school, a case can be heard in all four-downstairs class rooms. The sanitary arrangements and conveniences are a disgrace to any Wisconsin school, considering the number of pupils that attend.

"I think by having Turtle Creek as a boundary line there will not be any overlapping of districts if Clinton, both Avon and Clinton schools," said Principal F. O. Bartlett Thursday. "There are enough districts in Clinton, Bradford and La Prairie townships, which would be affected by an adequate school here, to build a new school. There are at least four districts in favor of the consolidation."

Meeting in Avon. Advantages of a consolidated school for Clinton are pointed out to the satisfaction of the Clinton township residents. The district is essentially a farming community—one of the main subjects in the school curriculum. The new school would afford facilities for proper teaching of farming and child care to the students within reach of their homes.

Gymnasium facilities would be provided and the library would save the need of a separate building. "We have had this school question before us for ten years or more, without any satisfactory action and the district must have a new school at once," is the sentiment expressed by Clinton people. There is no one dragging the question out for no other reason without definite action. R. G. Sallburg is president of the Clinton school board.

F. J. Lovitt, of the Rock county training school, attended a community meeting held Thursday night at Clinton, where the questions concerning Avon and Bradford school districts attended.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Bigger Crowds Asked to Back Baseball Team

Bigger crowds at the ball games Saturday and Sunday is the plea sent out by the Janesville Tractor management. Behind it is the statement that 100 per cent support is necessary at every contest during the season.

Attendance must equal that of a year ago to assure putting the national pastime over of a big scale.

Fast Team Coming. Rumors that Chisholm was not a club equal to the Tractors are believed to have had something to do with the meagre attendance last week-end. That the doubters were fooled is shown in the scores of 4 to 2 in Chisholm's favor and 3 to 0 for Janesville.

This week-end the Chicago Progressives, reputed to be the speediest semi-pro club travelling out of the Chicago league, is booked to appear at the local lot. Manager Perring's crew is getting set for two tough battles.
